

The Luxury Bride's Guide to Perfect Wedding Hair

Gen Casillas
Luxury Bridal Hair

Cut & Color Timeline

12 Months til "I do"

Dying to go back to your natural? This is the cut off for ANY big color changes!

6 Months til "I do"

Wanna try out tape in extensions? A keratin treatment? This is the time for haircare appointments, hair masks to restore any possible damage.

4 Months til "I do"

BRIDAL TRIAL TIME!

Blonde girllies: now is the time to get highlights underneath if you plan on wearing it up!

Colored girllies: Stop in for a fresh color!

Haircuts: Angles around the face & layers are an updos besties.

6-8 Weeks til "I do"

This is the cutoff for any haircuts, trims, etc!

Now isn't the time to get 6 inches off!

2-3 Weeks til "I do"

This is the cutoff for hair color! Unless you LOVE your hair color/highlights fresh, I'd say 2 weeks.

One day til "I do"

Treat yourself girl! Get a blowout so your hair is nice & clean for the big day!

REMEMBER: LAYERS & FACE FRAMING PIECES ARE AN UPDOS BESTIES!

@gencasillashair

How to prepare your hair for styling

- Wash hair 24 hours before.
If you have oily hair, wash the night of.
- Do not come with dirty hair.
This will prevent me from prepping the hair correctly for styling.
- Make sure to blow dry thoroughly, no wet hair please fee will apply for blowdrying, will also result on ending later than time on the timeline, & hairstyle will also be likely of lasting less
- Avoid any heavy products such as oils, leave-in conditioners.
This can make the hair more difficult to work with.
- Detangle hair before appointment.
- If you have curly hair, blowout your hair smooth the day or night before, unless you want to style your natural curls (do not straighten it with a straightening iron).
- If you want to style natural curls just follow regular routine by air-drying or using a diffuser without using heavy products.

If you're ready to secure your wedding date, scan here to receive your complimentary hour of touch ups

Gen Casillas
Luxury Bridal Hair